

English tenses

10. Past Perfect Continuous Tense: used to describe an ongoing action that continued up until a point in the past.

Example:

Affirmative: I had been playing soccer for two hours before the game ended.

Negative: I had not been playing soccer for two hours before the game ended.

Interrogative: Had I been playing soccer for two hours before the game ended?

11. Future Perfect Tense: used to describe a future action that will be completed at a specific time.

Example:

Affirmative: By next year, I will have played soccer for ten years.

Negative: By next year, I will not have played soccer for ten years.

Interrogative: Will I have played soccer for ten years by next year?

12. Future Perfect Continuous Tense: used to describe an ongoing action that will continue up until a specific time in the future.

Example:

Affirmative: By the end of the day, I will have been playing soccer for six hours.

Negative: By the end of the day, I will not have been playing soccer for six hours.

Interrogative: Will I have been playing soccer for six hours by the end of the day.